

Pattern for Gyôyô. (Actual size)

The patterns are for the left gyôyô (and show the front.) Reverse the patterns for a right side gyôyô.

Fold over on the dotted blue line, and lightly dish the body.

The better ones are covered in patterned leather and rimmed with a gilt fukurin (the latter in two pieces — one for the angled top, and one for the body of the gyôyô).

Instead of (or in addition to) the leather facing, you can apply an embossed crest or simply paint one on the lacquered surface. All are common methods of dressing up a gyôyô.

Cords attach to the watagami.
